

John Wyclif - 1320-1384

Study Questions

Scripture: Mark 13:33

See, Watch, and Pray

1. Wyclif says Christ's command "See" means directing all five senses toward God rather than toward vanity or worldly desire.

Which of your "spiritual senses" is most often captured by worldly distractions, and what would it look like to re-anchor it in Christ?

2. Christ's second command, "Watch," is especially aimed at pastors and leaders, because the safety of the flock depends on their vigilance.

Where do you sense God calling you to greater spiritual vigilance—for yourself, your home, or your community?

3. Wyclif insists that ministry pursued for honor, wealth, or personal advancement places the soul in grave danger.

How does this critique speak into modern Christian leadership—and into your own motivations for serving God?

4. The parable of the householder shows that Christ has entrusted His Church to His servants until His return.

What stewardship has Christ placed in your hands, and how might you prepare to give account for it?

5. Christ warns that His coming—at death or at judgment—will be sudden, like a thief in the night.

How would your priorities shift if you lived each day prepared for Christ's return?
